BIOGRAPHY

MARLBOROUGH - Agnes N. Morrice, 95, of Marlborough and formerly of Natick, died Friday, April 2, 2010 at Marlborough Hospital. She was born in Dundee, Scotland, the daughter of the late James H. and Agnes (Forbes) Morrice. A graduate of Vineyard Haven High School, she worked at MIT for over 40 years as department head in the communication department. Agnes was a member of the First Congregational Church of Natick, where she was very active in church functions. She enjoyed reading and was the head of Christian Education in Natick many years ago. She leaves her sister, Margaret Reuters of Yarmouthport, many nephews and nieces, and her close friends, the Irving family of Marlborough, with whom she made her home. She was the sister of the late James and John Morrice.

Funeral services will be private following cremation, and burial will be on Martha's Vineyard. Funeral arrangements are under the direction of the Fitzgerald & Collins Funeral Home (www.CollinsFuneral.com), 378 Lincoln Street, Marlborough.
